The Fund will seek to achieve long-term financial stability for the organization by addressing five general categories of financial demands:

1. Long-term Financial Self-Sufficiency: In order to ensure the success of the organization's mission, Zen Studies must establish a measure of financial independence. It is intended that over the long-term, the growth of the Fund's investment assets shall provide a primary and consistent source of income for the organization's various capital funding needs;
2. Physical Plant Maintenance and Improvement: The Fund's investment proceeds will be available to ensure that the existing temple buildings, facilities, roads, and landscape will be properly maintained and repaired, and to fund future capital improvements;

5. Stabilization of Operating Revenue: A specified portion of the Fund's annual net earnings, not to exceed 10% of such earnings, may be directed to stabilize year-to-year fluctuations in annual operating revenue as circumstances indicate, as determined by the Board of Directors.

OPERATING PRINCIPLES

In order to realize the Board of Directors' objectives in establishing the Dharma Legacy Fund, the following operating principles are adopted:

The principal of the Fund shall be comprised of all such gifts. In addition, unless authorized for specific, approved Fund purposes, all investment interest, income and realized and unrealized capital gains, shall, within 90 days after the close of the calendar year, revert to the principal of the Fund, unless otherwise specified pursuant to this Charter.

The Endowment Committee, in consultation with the Board of Directors, may recommend the projects/purposes for which the Fund's investment proceeds are to be distributed, and these recommendations shall require approval by the Board of Directors. As determined by a 2/3 majority vote of the Board of Directors, a portion of the Fund's net earnings available for distribution ("Net Income") may be used for specific, approved Fund purposes. Net Income shall be comprised of investment interest, income and realized and unrealized capital gains, net of all expenses.

A distribution from the Fund shall be reported clearly as a specific line item, and treated as a specific grant for a specific program or project.

Fund assets or income will be used to support neither propaganda nor other attempts to influence legislation, nor political campaigns on behalf of any candidate for public office.

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVES

The long-term investment objective for the assets that comprise the Fund is to earn an investment return that exceeds the inflation rate, as measured by the Consumer Price Index, by 7% per year. Investment return means total compound return, calculated to recognize all cash income plus realized and unrealized capital gains and losses, net of all investment related expenses. Since there are no immediate liquidity demands on the Fund, there is no preference for cash income as opposed to realized capital gains.

INVESTMENT GUIDELINES

It shall be the practice of the Endowment Committee, and such investment managers/advisors as the Committee may employ, to exercise appropriate caution and judgement in the investment and the administration of the Fund. The assets of the Fund shall be invested in a manner that is consistent with generally accepted standards of fiduciary responsibility. The safeguards that would guide a prudent expert shall be observed. The wise investment and management of all endowment funds shall be intended to generate substantial ongoing funds for the support of Zen Studies activities and to enhance the growth of the Fund principal. All transactions that utilize assets of the Fund will be undertaken for the sole benefit of Zen Studies. Any laws or regulations specific to the investment of assets of non-profit organizations in the State of New York shall be observed.

Fund assets may be invested in publicly traded common and preferred stocks, U.S. Government, asset-backed Government agency and corporate, bonds and money market instruments, subject to any restrictions set forth herein. No other securities shall be considered a permissible investment without the specific approval of the Endowment Committee.

The long-term financial requirements of Zen Studies and the reasoned preferences of the Board of Directors indicate an overall long-term capital appreciation approach. Market conditions may, however, necessitate a change in the overall asset allocation in the interest of capital preservation. The Endowment Committee members may seek consultation outside of its investment advisors who are directly managing the Fund's investments.

The target allowable range for asset allocation is as follows: equity securities shall constitute at least 65% of the Fund's total assets but shall not exceed 75% of the Fund's total assets; Fixed income securities are not to exceed 35% of the Fund's total assets; and cash and cash equivalents shall be at the discretion of the investment manager(s). These percentages will be based on the market value of investments. Investment outside the target allowable range for an asset category for a period exceeding one year requires the specific approval of the Endowment Committee.

The overall management of the Fund's equity securities ought to be characterized by all of the following: During market declines, the portfolio should decline less than the S&P 500 Index; diversification should be sufficient to moderate risk but not so excessive as to preclude attainment of optimal results; no more than 10% of the market value of the total managed portfolio may be invested in any one issuer or more than 20% in the same industry grouping.

The portion of the Fund committed to fixed income securities, if any, should adhere to the following criteria: The effective maturity of any individual fixed income security, including government-backed mortgage securities, should not exceed 15 years; the weighted average maturity of the fixed income securities should be less than 10 years; all individual securities should be rated "investment grade", i.e., rated better than BBB by Standard & Poors or equivalent rating agency. The average fixed income portfolio quality should be rated "A" or better.

Unless specifically sanctioned by the Endowment Committee, investment in any securities whose issuer is a foreign corporation or that is organized and existing under the laws of a foreign nation, may include only those securities traded on principal United States exchanges.

PROHIBITED INVESTMENTS AND TRANSACTIONS

The following investments are prohibited, unless approved by the Endowment Committee: short sales of any type; buying or selling on margin; precious metals; shares, units or other securities issued by private corporations, limited liability companies or partnerships; lettered or restricted securities or other securities for which there is no public market.

The following investments are prohibited, unless approved by the Endowment Committee: tax-exempt bonds; bonds, notes or other indebtedness for which there is no public market (private placements of debt); corporate obligations not rated at least 'BBB' by Standard and Poor's or an equivalent, recognized rating agency (including unrated corporate bonds); commercial paper; master notes, unless the public debt of the issuer is rated at least 'BBB' or the equivalent; direct placement of mortgages on real property; letters of credit guaranteed by the Fund. Transactions in options or futures contracts of any kind are prohibited.

Securities owned by the Fund, but held in custody by another party, such as a bank custodian, will not be loaned to any other party for any purpose, unless such securities lending is pursuant to a separate written agreement which the Endowment Committee has approved.

OTHER INVESTMENT POLICIES

Any investment manager retained by the Fund is to have full discretionary investment authority over the assets under management, subject to the guidelines and policies set forth in this Charter. There shall be no investment of Fund assets in commingled funds without the specific approval of the Endowment Committee.

INVASION OF PRINCIPAL

The Board of Directors, by a two-thirds majority vote, in an exceptional and rare case, has the power to spend principal from the Fund in the event of a bona fide extreme emergency. When the Board spends principal, a reimbursement plan must immediately be established with the Endowment Committee for repayment of the principal, plus interest at a rate equal to the net earnings of the Fund as reported to Zen Studies from the Fund manager or custodian of the Fund's assets. Repayment will begin during the fiscal year following the withdrawal at a rate that will achieve total repayment of the principal and interest within five years. No expenditure of principal in a fiscal year will exceed 10% of the market value of the Fund assets.

It shall be the practice of the Endowment Committee to present to the Board of Directors of Zen Studies at its annual meeting a report on the status of the Fund. A written report will be submitted to the Board at least once annually.

All gifts and donations to the Fund will be acknowledged in writing by either the Abbot or Vice Abbot of Zen Studies, and may be acknowledged by other appropriate parties.

REVIEW PROCEDURES

Investment policy should be reviewed by the Board of Directors once annually, or more often as necessary. The investment manager(s) shall meet at least annually with the Board of Directors to review portfolio and investment results. The Endowment Committee shall review periodically, but at least annually, the performance of the Fund relative to the objectives and guidelines described herein.

MODIFICATION/AMENDMENT

The provisions of this Fund Charter may be modified or amended only by a Board of Directors' resolution upon a three-fourths (3/4) majority vote of the full Board of Directors.
