Compelling Reasons Why Eido Tai Shimano, the Abbot of The Zen Studies Society Should Step Down as its Spiritual Leader.

The Shimano Archive

Archives recently published on the Internet reveal the enormity and historical depth of Eido Shimano's violations of the Buddhist precepts going back at least 40 years. With every passing day, former Sangha members, male and female, come forward to recount their stories.

Eido Shimano has denied none of it.

Judged by the standards of civil society, Buddhist law, clergy ethics, or any other standard applicable to the conduct of human affairs, Eido Shimano's conduct has been a disgrace. It has been an affront not only to the monks and nuns of Dai Bosatsu Zendo, to the practitioners of New York Zendo Shobo-ji, to the Zen Studies Society Sangha, but to sincere Buddhist practitioners everywhere.

The repeated refusal of successive Boards of Directors of the Zen Studies Society to apply minimal professional standards to their Abbot violates our sense of decency.

Given the undisputed record, nothing justifies The Zen Studies Society's Board of Directors delaying even one more day in acting decisively to remove Eido Shimano.

The current Directors need to actively and resolutely take action to ensure The Zen Studies Society will have a legacy not forever mired by the improprieties of its Abbot and the successive failures of various Zen Studies Society Boards of Directors -- their independent judgment nullified by inherent conflicts of interest and unduly influenced by loyalty -- to act to stop abuses that they saw but sought to rationalize away and even cover up.

Only by the Abbot's immediate removal by Board of Directors' action can The Zen Studies Society have any hope of establishing future credibility and beginning a process of healing and reconciliation.

Eido Shimano is responsible for his actions and accountable for the irreparable damage he has inflicted. It is the Zen Studies Society's Board of Directors that now must make clear to the World that it unequivocally condemns the Abbot's actions. Allowing the Abbot a face-saving exit on his own terms is exactly what the Board should refuse to countenance. The future of Zen Studies Society, if it is to have a future at all, cannot be based on the sycophantic loyalty to the Abbot that has brought the organization to where it is today.

In 1995, a petition for his resignation came from revered teachers (Aitken, Kapleau, and others). This followed the departure of his Dharma Heir and Vice-Abbot from Dai Bosatsu Zendo because of another major scandal in The Society.

On May 20, 2010, Robert Aitken Roshi, the most respected Senior Zen Roshi in America, issued a historic and unprecedented public letter to Shimano Roshi.

Dear Tai San,

There are many reports of your abuse of women published on the web which indicate that you have been involved in breaking the precepts over a period of more than 40 years. I would like to urge you to come forth and make a statement in response to these accusations.

Sincerely yours,

Robert Aitken

The ethics guidelines for the Zen Studies Society prohibits sexual liasons between teacher and students and guests. The reason for this is obvious.

Consider the following allegations:

The abbot had liasons with many dharma students; with an officer of the Society; with at least one ordained nun; and most recently, yet another kessei student. Some students allege that the seductions were initiated in a Dokusan setting. This is where the student meets the roshi in a private, confidential, and formal setting during sesshin (retreat).

Additional accounts recently published by the writer Robin Westen cannot be ignored. More women are named by Adam Fisher (Genkaku). And as early as 1964, Robert Aitken (later Aitken Roshi) documented the seduction of two female sangha members being ministered to by Eido Shimano who became patients in a Hawaii mental facility.

The internet documents give us so many accusations over so many years, and so many women involved, that it is now impossible for The Zen Studies Society or its Abbot to refute them. The documents allow you to make a chronology of monumental abuse of power and undue influence over almost half a century.

Short of a public ceremony of repentance and reconciliation that will involve the Sangha, it is difficult to imagine how sangha who suffered can be assuaged. This important step cannot be done with a belated and short letter expressing regret.

As Buddhists who take the precepts seriously we entreat you to join us in this petition for Eido Tai Shimano Roshi to withdraw immediately as Abbot and spiritual leader of The Zen Studies Society.

PETITION:

We, the undersigned Dharma teachers and concerned members of the Maha Sangha call on Rev. Eido Tai Shimano to withdraw immediately from his position as Abbot and Spiritual Leader of The Zen Studies Society.

We share the conviction that Rev. Shimano cannot and should not function as a spiritual teacher and Abbot for these compelling reasons:

His conduct in any realm of civic society is unacceptable, and should not be condoned by the Directors of the Society and certainly not by a spiritual organization;

He has failed to fulfill the mandate of benefactors to the Society, as well as the hopes and expectations of his teachers;

By his deeds he has repeatedly divided the Sangha, causing great bitterness among many students; his record of sexual misconduct has brought Buddhist training into disrepute and alienated ordained monks and nuns;

His exploitation of women has caused many women pain and anguish;

He has repeatedly exploited the Sangha for his personal gratification, and therefore as an abbot responsible for the care and nurturing of the Sangha, he has failed;

In his systematic refusal to consider the consequences of his conduct and attitudes, he is unfit to lead, much less be the spiritual leader of a Dharma organization like The Zen Studies Society;

With the many accusations against him, he cannot be an Abbot who is the public embodiment and representative of the spiritual mission of a Dharma organization;

By repeatedly violating the Buddhist Precepts, his monk's vows, and the Ethics Guidelines of the Zen Studies Society over the past 40 years, he has shown himself unable to uphold the Three Treasures of Buddha,

Dharma and Sangha;

We find irrefutable the concern of Mrs. Dorris Carlson, the most generous benefactor to The Zen Studies Society, that “the spiritual stature of the Zen Studies Society has been compromised over the years because of Eido Roshi’s behavior;”

We find it an affront that Rev. Eido Shimano, who has been the beneficiary of inordinate kindness, generosity, and patience in this country where he has chosen to live, has failed to behave ethically towards the Sangha;

His silence and unwillingness to respond forthrightly to the many accusations against him is unworthy of a spiritual leader and Rinzai Zen Buddhist teacher;

His lack of integrity does not justify or validate his continuing on as abbot, and therefore his spiritual standing is impaired.

Therefore, in shared concern and solicitude, we, Buddhist teachers and Sangha, entreat The Directors of The Zen Studies Society to uphold the Three Treasures of Buddha, Dharma and Sangha. With the decisiveness and clarity this situation merits, please bring about the immediate withdrawal of Rev. Eido Shimano from his duties as the spiritual representative and Abbot of The Zen Studies Society.
